

Gary Alt song included in kids' CD

Songwriter Gary Alt of Wantage has one song included on the popular children's CD "Kidtunes," available from www.pianopress.com, www.amazon.com, www.cdbaby.com, and www.cdstreet.com. "Kidtunes" includes 30 songs by 28 singer-songwriters from the U.S. and Canada. With a fun mixture of musical styles (folk, bluegrass, country, rock-n-roll), as well as children's and adult's voices, the album includes over 70 minutes of family friendly entertainment. Many of the songs were recorded and produced in Nashville, and in other studios around North America. The tunes are easy to listen to and sing along with, and appeal to all ages.

Included are the platinum-selling song writers Katherine Dines (for two songs on the Grammy-nominated "A Child's Gift of Lullabies") and Bob King (for his song "Brother for Sale" recorded by Mary-Kate and Ashley Olson and "Sandwiches are Beautiful" recorded by various artists). Joyce Seamone had a No. 1 song and gold record in Canada for her "Testing 1-2-3". Pete Seeger plays banjo and sings background vocals on Danny Einbender's contribution to "Kidtunes," "It Really Isn't Garbage." Well-known San Diego artist/producer Peter Sprague produced Track 29 on "Kidtunes," "We're All Peas in a Pod," a song on cultural diversity.

A portion of the proceeds from "Kidtunes" are donated to UNICEF.
